

LEVEE

Has Broken Near Raceland, La.

Biggest Flood In River History Is Feared

ARMED MEN ARE PATROLLING THE DIKES.

GREAT DANGER AT MEMPHIS.

Mississippi is Still Rising and Will Surely go Higher—Property Interests in Danger.

Cincinnati, O., March 10.—The Ohio and Mississippi Rivers from Pittsburg to New Orleans are on a rampage, and conservative prospects are for a flood suffering. Breaks in the levees have already occurred below Raceland, La., and a wide area of cultivated land is under water. At other points along the Mississippi the levees are being strained to the utmost to contain the immense volume of water that is pouring down from the north, and an army of men are working like beavers to strengthen the weak places.

Warnings have been issued by the United States Weather Bureau officials to Memphis and New Orleans to prepare for the worst. Sentinels in the employ of the Federal Government are on the lookout, and boats are in constant service, with expert engineers aboard, to perform whatever work is necessary to stay the tide.

Armed guards have been stationed at convenient places to shoot down any one who undertakes to weaken the levees.

BREAKS IN LEVEE.

New Orleans, March 10.—Dr. I. M. Cline, Forecast Official of the United States Weather Bureau in New Orleans, has issued a special warning that the Mississippi River is now within 1.4 feet of the highest water ever recorded, and the Atchafalaya River within one foot of the highest on record.

These rivers, the warning recited, will continue to rise slowly for the next three or four weeks, and all interests are advised to prepare for a stage of 21 feet in New Orleans, and a corresponding rise in the Atchafalaya, if the levees prove able to hold the volume of water now coming. A steady brisk to high east-southeast wind for three or four days will cause a rise of probably one foot as a result of backwater. West to northwest winds will cause a corresponding fall.

The Red River south of Shreveport and the Ouachita are above the danger line, and will continue to rise slowly for three or four days.

The forecast as regards the direction of the wind for the next 24 hours, is for fresh easterly winds. Unsettled weather and probably rain will prevail over Louisiana.

The stage of the river predicted by Forecast Official Cline is unprecedented. The well known conservatism of the forecaster lends weight to his warning. The 21-foot stage is expected before the end of the week.

There is not the slightest anxiety in New Orleans, despite the situation, as the damage which might occur from water is understood to be possible only from breaks in the levees above or below the city.

There were three breaks in Bayou Lafourche. All three were below Raceland in a section of the state very thickly populated by Manila and Italian truck farmers. These levees will inundate about 50 square miles of cultivated lands, and the damage will be considerable. The breaks will run their course. They cannot be controlled. There is another expected break reported at Lafourche crossing. If the levee breaks there communication on the Southern Pacific will be interrupted, and some of the richest sugar plantations in the state will be inundated.

AT ZANESVILLE.

Zanesville, O., March 10.—A week ago, when the waters of the Licking and Muskingum Rivers began to fall, it was concluded that fears of a flood this season were groundless. Now a different condition exists for at noon yesterday the Licking River reached the same height that it reached a week ago, and is still rising.

What makes the situation more critical is that the Muskingum River, the more violent and larger of the two rivers, did not begin upon its upward course until yesterday, and the result is that the flood of a week ago is bound to be exceeded in extent and resulting damage.

The Licking left its banks in the Seventh ward bottoms yesterday, extending to West Main street. There was a cessation of the 60 hours of rain, but rain fell again last night and this morning. Residents of the lowlands are moving out, for the general cry, "The Muskingum is coming," has been raised.

SITUATION AT MEMPHIS.

Memphis, Tenn., March 10.—The Mississippi river, ordinarily one mile wide here, is now five miles across and is threatening the St. Thomas levee, which was built on the Arkansas side after the big flood of 1897, when the river was forty miles wide. Big lumber plants and other industries built since then are in the territory now protected by the levee. Hundreds of people in the low lands in front of the levees have abandoned their homes and sought refuge back of the levees, where many of them live in tents. No fatalities reported.

Predictions are now made that the water will go to 38 feet, the highest ever known here. Optimists have given place to alarm, as the situation is considered even by the veteran rivermen as threatening serious danger.

RAILROAD BRIDGES

Washed Away by Ice Gorges in the Platte River.

Lincoln, Neb., March 10.—Ice gorges on the Platte river near South Bend, have created great havoc. Almost every bridge spanning the stream was carried away. The main line bridge of the Rock Island railway at South Bend was first to go. Eight miles below this the Missouri Pacific was carried away. Many other minor bridges are destroyed. Loss three millions. Railroads and highway travel are completely blocked.

DAMAGE SUIT

Miss Hutchinson Sues Buffalo Officials for $75,000 for Arrest in Burdick Murder Case.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 10.—Miss Marion Hutchinson has begun suit against the Buffalo police department for $75,000 damages for arrest and detention in connection with the murder of E. L. Burdick. Mrs. Paine, it is reported, will bring a similar action against the police department. Her house was entered and turned topsy turvy by clue hunting detectives.

College Presidents.

On Friday, Saturday and Sunday next, an important meeting of the college presidents in the state will be held at Wittenberg college, Springfield. Among those to attend will be Dr. O. W. Thompson, of the O. S. U., and Secretaries Wilbur and Landis of the Ohio Y. M. C. A., and Dr. Kinsell; President Bashford of the O. W. U., Dr. E. W. Hunt of Denison university, Messrs. Cooper and Williams of New York, Mr. Rugh of Springfield, Mr. Enos of Delaware, Mr. Foster of the O. S. U. and others. The object of the meeting is to lay plans for future work in the organization.

FUGITIVE

GOVERNOR FAILED TO ACCOUNT FOR STOCK

Says R. N. Miller Who Files His Cross Complaint—Some Strong Language Is Used.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 10.—R. N. Miller, defendant in a suit for dissolution of partnership by W. S. Taylor, a refugee from Kentucky, has filed a cross complaint in which he alleges that the law firm was Miller, Moore & Taylor, the ex-Deputy Attorney General (Moore) permitting the use of his name, but not sharing in the profits. The firm was legal adviser for the O. B. Wilson Manufacturing Company, recovering $5,000 in stock, which Taylor had assigned to himself. It was worth $2,000. He now owns a controlling interest in the company. Miller also alleges that Taylor collected $1000 for which, with the stock, he failed to account. Miller says of Taylor: "I thought he was all right when I entered into partnership with him, but when he had trouble with the street car conductor over a four cent fare and was going to shoot, it settled him with me. I have learned to know him better since. Since he fled suit against me there have been three men in my office to get me to sue him for money."

Mr. Miller was asked if he now thought Taylor was connected with the assassination of Governor Goebel. "I have nothing to say as to that. However, if it was a matter of money consideration I would unhesitatingly pronounce him guilty," said Mr. Miller.

MILLIONS

Bequeathed to a British Earl One Hundred Years Ago Came to Him Sunday.

London, March 10.—Millions of dollars became the property of the Earl of Ellesmere at noon Sunday, as the result of a will made 100 years ago.

The last Duke of Bridgewater, who died in 1803, was a pioneer in the construction of canals. He decreed that his property should be held in trust for an even century from the day of his death. The trustees sold the property for $5,000,000 in 1873, and that has since vastly increased through investments. This enormous sum has now been paid to Francis Charles Granville Egerton, the third earl of Ellesmere. He has been in only moderate circumstances. He is 58 years old and has written novels and is devoted to horse racing and cricket.

CLEVELAND

Says He Is Out of Politics and That He Didn't Go to New York to Talk Politics.

New York, March 10.—Former President Grover Cleveland denies that he had come to New York City for any political purpose, as was rumored. He said:

"I came solely for the purpose of attending the Beecher memorial meeting in Brooklyn. The reports that I had a political talk with Edward M. Shepard, William C. Whitney and others are untrue. "I am not in politics. I am out for good. I only saw Mr. Shepard for two minutes, and politics did not figure in our conversation. Politics is furthest from my thoughts at present, although I am always ready to act in an advisory capacity, if so desired. "As for taking any active part in politics, that is not to be considered."

NEGRO LAD

Confesses to Killing the Two Girls for Which Mason of Boston Was Charged.

Boston, Mass., March 10.—Sheriff Fairbeairne has made public the partial confession of George L. O. Perry, the negro lad who was indicted for the murder of Miss Agnes McPhee and Miss Clara Morton. Perry, the sheriff said, realized that he was dying and when the sheriff said to him: "Perry, did you hit those girls?" the negro replied: "Yes, sir, I did." "Did Mason have anything to do with it?" the sheriff asked. "A negative shake of the head was the answer and Perry, beginning to weep pitifully, said: "Do not ask me any more questions." Mason, who is referred to, is the Boston man, a member of a prominent family, who was once arrested on suspicion of being "Jack the Slagger," but was afterwards discharged.

EIGHTEEN DEAD

Glens Falls, N. Y., March 10.—The river is so high that the search for the bodies of the Spier Falls disaster victims has been stopped. Missing Italians. At midnight everything possible was done to bring out delay to the bodies of the injured. At midnight everything possible was done to bring out delay to the bodies of the injured. ON FIRE.

Oil Tank Explodes Killing Many.

A Scene of Horror at Olean, N. Y.

CROWDS GATHERED TO SEE A WRECKED OIL TRAIN

UNCONSCIOUS OF ANY DANGER.

Explosion Took Place, and Burning Fluid Was Thrown Over the Spectators.

Olean, N. Y., March 10.—Fifteen persons are known to be dead as a result of the explosion of oil tank cars on the Erie tracks near this city late last night. The death list will be added to when the Olean creek is dragged. It is believed that several whose clothing was burning plunged into the water and were drowned. Thirty persons, some of them fatally injured, are in the hospital. Seven of these, it is expected, will die. Among the identified dead are: Norman Brown, Thos. Fitzpatrick, John McMahon, Richard Connell, John Tobin, Wm. McCready. There are eight other bodies at the morgue, burned almost beyond recognition. The victims were all young men who stood near one of the tanks watching the wreck burn, when the explosion came.

At noon today the list of known dead is 15. The undertaking establishments of C. H. Woodward and W. J. Quigley were besieged this morning with men, women and children, seeking to ascertain if they had relatives or friends among the dead. The fire was still burning at 8 o'clock this morning. Working crews are working at the scene. All trains east and west are running around by the way of Buffalo.

Olean, N. Y., March 10.—Twenty-two persons are known to have been killed and a large number were injured by an explosion of oil in the tank cars of a freight train on the Erie railroad last night.

The train broke in two east of Olean and the two sections came together with a crash. One of the oil tanks was demolished. Fire broke out and the sky was lighted up for miles.

A large crowd from Olean went to see the fire. While the spectators were along the tracks a terrific explosion occurred. The flames communicated quickly with the other tank cars and a second and a third explosion followed each other in rapid succession.

Sheets of flame shot out in all directions. Scores of persons were caught within the zone of the fire and enveloped in flames. Men and boys ran screaming down the tracks with their clothing on fire. Others fell where they stood, overcome by the heat.

Just how many were killed is not known as some of the bodies were incinerated.

Sydney Fish said: "I went to see the fire and when I was within a quarter of a mile of the wrecked train a terrific explosion occurred. Flames shot outward and upward for a great distance. I saw several persons start to run."

"Some dropped on the railway tracks and never moved. Others who had been standing close to the wreckage, were hurled hundreds of feet through the air. Half a dozen boys ran down the tracks with their clothing on fire. They ran some distance down the track and then threw themselves to the ground, groveling in the frantic efforts to extinguish the flames."

Word was sent at once to the Olean police by telephone. Every doctor and ambulance was summoned. Groceries and all kinds were sent to the injured. It was done to bring out delay to the bodies of the injured. At midnight everything possible was done to bring out delay to the bodies of the injured. At midnight everything possible was done to bring out delay to the bodies of the injured.

Olean to ascertain how many persons are missing.

Hundreds of persons filled the streets after the explosion and many stood for hours at the hospital door trying to recognize the body or injured person of some friend or relative.

Many pathetic scenes occurred when various persons saw burned relatives carried into the building.

The police had difficulty in keeping frantic relatives from rushing into the operating rooms.

DEAD AND INJURED.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 10.—Between 22 and 25 persons are dead and at least 45 injured as a result of the explosion of oil at Olean last night.

Burning oil was thrown over the spectators watching the wreck and they became living torches. Some fell where they stood, others ran, became confused and dropped in heaps and were burned into unrecognizable shapes. Some of the bodies were reduced to ashes and identification is impossible. Olean hospitals are filled with the injured.

THIRTEEN DEAD IDENTIFIED.

Olean, N. Y., March 10.—Thirteen of the dead have been identified as follows:

Martin V. Driscoll, aged 22; Will C. Ross, aged 16; Harry Godden, aged 18; Richard Connell, aged 19; Herman Vollman, aged 15; John McMahon, aged 19; Walter Swat, 19; John Tobin, 16; John McCready, 13; John Steninger, 17; Norman Brown, 58; two Italians named Raffailo Quarinto and Carmin Siciliano.

One of the injured, Walker Jackson, died this morning, making the number of dead 15.

The undertaking establishments of C. P. Woodward and W. J. Quigley were besieged this morning with men, women and children seeking to ascertain if they had relatives or friends among the dead. The fire was still burning at 8 o'clock this morning. Working crews are at work. All trains east and west are running around by way of Buffalo.

PROF. STROBLE

Of the Harvard Law School May Be Become Legal Adviser of the King of Siam.

Boston, March 10.—It has become public from authority which cannot be doubted, that one and probably two professors of the Harvard law school have been selected for important positions in the Royal College of Siam. One of the positions is that of legal adviser to the King, a place of great influence and responsibility, because the action of Siam in international questions will depend largely upon the advice of the holder of this office. The man who is named for this position is Prof. Edward Henry Stroble, Professor of International Law. The name of the other cannot as yet be announced. Final action in regard to Prof. Stroble is pending owing to certain diplomatic complications.

Prof. Stroble has had much experience in diplomatic affairs, and is considered an authority upon international law. He is a Southern man by birth and a Northern man by education. He has been Secretary of the United States Legation at Madrid, Third Assistant Secretary of State in the second Cleveland administration, Minister to Ecuador and Minister to Chile.

DETECTIVES

From the West Uncarried Gambling Dens That New York Police Failed to Find.

New York, March 10.—Police Inspector Brooks, head of the New York Detective Bureau, probably will ask to be tried, as a result of the act of Commissioner Green in importing young Westerners, who succeeded in getting a license against gambling houses. Commissioner Green has asked Inspector Brooks to explain how it has been possible to get this evidence.

deceit. Green says:

"Inspector Brooks has to stand responsible for everything that has been done in the Detective Bureau since he took hold of it. With possibly two exceptions all of the changes made were suggested by him. I will not believe that out of 100 detectives supposed to be the pick of the force, and 10,000 in uniform it is impossible to choose men who can get evidence against gambling houses."

"I brought Frank McCabe and Henry Holland on here from Kansas City on February 14. They secured a letter of introduction to Lou Betts in West Thirty-fourth street, and gambled there on February 16. The two Adams boys came here from Indianapolis on February 20, and on February 26, they had secured the entree to Mike Maler's on Thirty-fifth street, and were gambling there.

"The blame attaches to the Detective Bureau and I am going to find out who is responsible."

NO ELECTION

Of Boards of Education Will Be Held This Year—So Decides the Supreme Court.

Columbus, March 10.—The Supreme court today sustained Mayor Johnson in the Cleveland street paving case.

In the Steubenville school board case the court held that no election of Boards of Education is required this year. The old boards will hold over.

RAINSPOUTS

Climbed by the Lad Who Stole Presents That Were Showered on His Girl.

Philadelphia, March 10.—Herbert Welsh, the seventeen-year-old rainspout-climbing house robber, was held in $5,199 bail on 17 charges of house robbery perpetrated within the past two months. Welsh had been showering presents of the plunder upon a girl, all of which were returned.

Yesterday afternoon 11 witnesses appeared against Welsh. One of them, Mrs. Amanda Hepburn, became almost hysterical on the stand. She said several weeks ago she encountered Welsh in the third story of her home. The fright so unnerved her that she has not been the same since. Welsh stole nothing there, but the succeeding witnesses identified jewelry, watches, &c., that were found by the police. Hardly anybody was able to identify the lad, but his lawyer said: "No use of calling witnesses; head admits the evidence. All the houses were entered by climbing to the second and third floor windows, by way of the rainspout."

Welsh seemed to be really interested in the testimony presented against him, and had nothing to say in his own defense.

DRUNKEN OFFICERS

Blamed by Sailors for the Stranding of an American Bark in Chinese Waters.

San Francisco, March 10.—Captain J. J. Jackson and nine of the crew of the American bark Alex. McNell, which was stranded on Frutas Reef near Hong Kong December 21, have arrived here on the steamer Capt. from the Orient.

The sailors say that shortly after the vessel left Hong Kong December 19 the officers became intoxicated and the vessel drifted from its proper course, finally bringing upon the reef where it went to pieces.

A drunken fight followed during which the sailors assert, ships carpenter emptied his revolver at the officers, and was too intoxicated to aim with precision and he only was injured. A boat containing the first mate and four of the crew were lost and no trace of them was found.

The sailors remained on the reef for three weeks, finally putting to sea in an improvised boat and were picked up by a steamer. Captain Jackson denies that he or any of the officers were drunk.

Nothing bores an optimist like the history of other people's troubles.

FISHING

For The Southern Delegates

Mr. Spooner Backed By Capitalists.

WHO WANT TO PUT ROOSEVELT ON THE SHELF.

PRESIDENT'S POLITICAL FRIENDS

Not Satisfied With the Acclamation Story Told by the Leaders—Senator Spooner's Boom.

New York, March 10.—A Washington dispatch to the Herald is as follows:

Some of the political advisers of President Roosevelt are not entirely satisfied with the repeated statements which came from important Republican senators and party leaders that the President is sure of a nomination by acclamation. They suspect that there will still be an effort to get together on some candidate with whom the President can be beaten. They have made up their minds at least not to be thrown off their guard. They are proceeding on the line that there are important interests that would like to see Roosevelt beaten and they are taking no chances. Every movement to put some other candidate forward is being watched closely.

The latest suspect as an anti-Administration candidate is Senator Spooner of Wisconsin. A few weeks ago no one had any thought that Senator Spooner could be induced to allow the use of his name. Now there is well founded belief in Administration circles that Spooner is being backed by capitalists who would like to see Roosevelt put on "the shelf."

The most recent story about Spooner is that his friends are about to take advantage of the Southern situation and will endeavor to make trouble for the administration in getting delegates from the South for the senior senator from Wisconsin.

On behalf of the President it is said that he will make no contest for the Southern delegates. He will not enter into a scramble for votes in the conclave from any of the Southern states. He has said that if his nomination is to depend on delegates from states which have never gone Republican and which are not even remotely likely to go Republican because of the disfranchisement of the negroes, he will not accept it.

He desired to be nominated if he is to be the standard bearer in 1904, by votes from Northern States where there is a fighting chance for Republican electors. This is a notice to the country that he will eliminate the South in the convention because he thinks that only the states that give Republican majorities should be allowed to name national candidates.

The report comes from Milwaukee that friends of Senator Spooner have organized a movement to get the Southern delegates for him. This movement started in the Wisconsin legislature, where a resolution was passed calling for an interstate conference to discuss the negro situation. This is said to be a Spooner scheme. Senator Spooner would naturally figure in the canvass as the corporation candidate, because he has contended until the Supreme court of the United States rendered its decision in the lottery cases that the power of Congress to regulate interstate commerce had not exhausted and that the only way in which further progress could be made would be to have a constitutional amendment passed.

Ellis Glenn Case.

Parkersburg, W. Va., March 10.—Attorneys C. T. Caldwell and W. N. Miller leave here today for Washington, where they will appear in the United States supreme court in the famous Ellis Glenn case. Ellis Glenn has been in this city ever since her release with the exception of a few weeks when she was with a show. The argument in the supreme court will be an appeal from the decision of Judge Jackson in the habeas corpus case.

The trusts need have no fears so long as the Republicans continue to control all branches of the government. There may be strong anti-trust talk on the part of the Republican President and a few Republican members of the house, but with the Republican party in control the trusts are in the hands of their friends.

Toledo Bee: The election of Senator Gorman, without opposition, as chairman of the Democratic senatorial caucus, would seem to indicate that the Democrats in the Senate are getting together anyhow. It would be a good thing for Democrats generally, to pursue the same policy—that is, get together.

The names of the new battleships are to be Vermont, Kansas, Minnesota, Idaho and Mississippi. The rule of the navy department is that battleships shall be named for States, cruisers and gunboats for cities, and torpedo boats and destroyers for persons. All the States but seven are represented in the new navy, but two of these have boats in the old classes, Michigan having a schooner built in 1814, and New Hampshire an old wooden vessel built in 1818, but still retained. There were two old ships called the Vermont and Minnesota, but these were dropped to accommodate the naming of the new for those States.

Meerschaum Carving.

Vienna is the greatest center for meerschaum carving, which has attained a very high artistic development. The raw material comes in such odd shapes that much skill is exercised in obtaining from each piece a pipe that shall be as large and well shaped as possible. The rough block is first soaked in water to make it soft, when it can be cut as readily as cheese. After the carving is completed the final polishing is done by women with fine sandpaper and a kind of grass.

Antiquaries are baffled in their attempts to ascertain when sausages first became an article of human consumption. We know at least that among the ancient Greeks sausages, called "salantes" and "chorial," were a common article of diet, and every schoolboy knows, or ought to know, that sausages, black puddings and sausage sellers appear in the comedies of Aristophanes.—London Telegraph.

HOW HUSBANDS SHOP.

A Dialogue That It Was Certain Would Not Please the Lady.

"The pleasures of shopping are as rigorously denied to 'nice men' as are the advantages of whistling to fair women. The decree, being nature's own, is universal, and the attempts made to contravene it are few and unsuccessful. An exception, more apparent than real, was made a few days ago by an 'exorious Berlin husband intent on presenting his better half with a new blouse. He hurriedly entered one of the first shops in the capital and consulted his intention to the graceful young lady assistant. 'I want a blouse—a good one. You understand. It must be silk—the best silk.'

"May I ask what color you prefer?" inquired the superior young saleswoman, with a smile.

"Oh, I'm not particular about the color, but I may say that it may cost from 30 to 40 marks."

"And the cut?"

"The cut? Well, I really don't much care. After all, it comes to the same thing."

"May I ask about the lady for whom it is destined?"

"Why, she is my wife, of course! What else did you?"

"I beg your pardon. What I meant was what is her size, at least approximately?"

"It doesn't matter in the least. Please show me some blouses, one blouse, one blouse, and let me go, for I am in a hurry to catch a train."

"With pleasure, sir, but if you cannot give me an idea of the color, cut or size or anything else to guide me how can I hope to suit you?"

"Give me any blouse you like so long as the price is between 30 and 40 marks. It doesn't matter a straw what cut or color or size I choose, for in any case it's certain to be changed. I told you it is for a lady!"—London Telegraph.

SHOPS IN JAPAN.

The Flagon Are the Counters and Squanting Places of Buyers.

To start a Japanese shop is the simplest thing in the world. You take the front of your house and arrange your worldly possessions on the floor.

Japanese floors are raised off the street, though nothing is raised off them. The transient customer sits on the edge of the floor saddle. A real shopper who means to do the thing properly climbs up on the floor, which is also the counter, and squats on his heels.

Real Japanese shops have no doors or windows or counters. Shop windows in England do not leave much wall in the frontage, but even an English shop window does not take the whole front of the house.

The Japanese have not many regular shops. There are very few streets of shops even in Tokyo, which is as large as Berlin. Foreigners never buy anything but curios. If they are fools, they deal with shops kept by Europeans; if they want bargains, they deal with Chinamen.

There are many Chinese shops in treaty ports. The Chinaman is cheaper and more reliable than the Japanese. European shopkeepers do not set up in Japan for philanthropic reasons. Japanese shopkeepers are the lowest class of population except the outcasts. Servants and laborers take precedence of them in society, and precedence is the hobby of the Japanese.

You have a different bow and a different salutation for a man who is below you or your equal, and several for the people above you. You have even a different language for each, and Japanese writing wriggles like carving on their temples.—London Standard.

THE LEPROSY BATH CURE.

San Francisco Expert Says It Is Used Most Successfully in Japan.

Among leprosy experts in San Francisco Dr. George L. Fitch occupies a prominent place because of his wide experience in Japan and Hawaii. He made a special study of the disease for months in Japan, and he was in charge of the leper hospital at Honolulu for several years. He said recently to a reporter of the New York Tribune that the most successful bath treatment for leprosy was at Rehoboth mineral springs in Japan, where the temperature of the natural springs was as high as 120 degrees. With the hot water was used the oil of an East Indian tree which had a wonderful curative effect. He added:

"I procured some of this oil and used it on patients in the hospital here (San Francisco), and in some cases it did great good. But all cures of leprosy depend on individual peculiarities. I have tried hot baths with excellent results in nearly all cases, but some patients cannot stand them. Recently a young leper came to me who had taken as many as five hot baths daily, and he was well on the way to recovery. Others, however, have not been helped."

YALE'S NOVEL CLUB.

Tallest Seniors Organize and Call Themselves the Bredinghams. Hardly was the announcement made recently of the formation of the Bredinghams, composed of the shortest men in the senior class at Yale university, before it came to light that the tall men of the college in the senior class had organized a club and called themselves the Bredinghams, writes the Chicago Inter Ocean's special correspondent at New Haven.

To become a member of this new band one must measure 6 feet 1 inch in height. There are twelve members at present. The president is Frederick William Willard of New York city, a member of the football team, George A. Goss of Waterbury is the secretary and Smart R. Smith of Cincinnati the vice president and treasurer.

The tallest man of the crowd is Thorne Baker of Cincinnati, who measures 6 feet 5 inches. The members are extremely reticent as to their organization, but it is said that a lively application is one of the first things the applicant for membership has to encounter.

Not Dangerous.

"I hear you want to sell your dog, Pat. They tell me he has a pedigree."

"Sure, sir. Of silver noticed it, sir. Anyhow, he's nothing but a puppy ritz, an' 'Gim thinks' as how he'll be after outgrowin' it, sir."—Glasgow Times.

PAIN IN THE BACK.

A Sure Sign of Kidney Trouble. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy will cure you.

Pain in the back is a never failing sign of kidney disease; another sure sign is the condition of the urine; if you have a pain in the back, then look to the condition of your urine. Take a glass tumbler and fill it with urine; after it has stood 24 hours, if it has a sediment, if it is milky or cloudy, pale or discolored, stringy orropy, your kidneys and bladder are in a dangerous condition and need immediate attention, or the consequences may prove fatal.

F. C. Wilcox of 559 New Britain ave., Hartford, Conn., says:

"I had a frightful pain in my back, the result of kidney trouble. My physician seemed powerless to relieve me. I determined to try Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy; it helped me wonderfully, and in a short time cured me completely."

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the one medicine that really cures all diseases of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood, rheumatism, dyspepsia and chronic constipation. It is wonderful how it makes that pain in the back disappear, how it relieves the desire to urinate often, especially at night, and drives away that scalding pain in passing water and makes you well and strong.

AMUSEMENTS.

Haverly's Mastodon Minstrel Show, has been a standard attraction since the palmy days when the redoubtable Haverly controlled a score of theatres on both sides of the Atlantic. Haverly's venturesome ambition cost him the greater part of his immense fortune, but to his minstrel company he clung with undaunted courage and through the years it has survived the fiercest rivalry and keenest competition. Will Nankeville, who now directs the Haverly enterprise, encouraged by his success last season, has this year striven to maintain the Haverly name and fame with an organization as complete as money and brains can make it. He again presents as his comedian, Mr. George Wilson, a name familiar wherever minstrelsy is known and has furnished him the following assistants in fun making, but little less known, such as jovial Bert Swor, Peron Somers, happy Johnnie Swor, Jake Young, George Joseph and Frank Young. Musically, there has been no deterioration from the high standard of excellence which Haverly has always insisted on maintaining. The entire New York press being unanimous in their praise of the famous Haverly choir during their successful run at the Metropolitan Theatre in August. Young, well cultivated, fresh voices, will compose the choir, with soloists who excel as intelligent readers of pleasing ballads. The olio, which will be made up exclusively of legitimate minstrel acts, good, old fashioned black faced minstrel tradition being rigidly adhered to, includes the irresistible monologue and parodies of George Wilson; the musical act of Garden & Somers, the Brothers Swor, in a funny talking specialty, and closing with a European importation and the Carl Dammann troupe of acrobats and gymnasts.

Beware of Ointment for Catarrh That Contains Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should be taken off except on prescriptions from reputable physicians as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good they may possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure, be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and is made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by druggists, price, 75 cents per bottle. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

ONLY FOR LADY SCRUBBERS

Why an Elevator Boy Wouldn't Stop For Senator Burrows.

Senator Burrows of Michigan went to a downtown office building in Washington the other night to consult with a friend, says the New York World. The office he wanted to reach was three floors up. The senator rang the elevator bell repeatedly, but got no answer, and then climbed laboriously to his friend's office.

The office was closed. Senator Burrows went to the elevator shaft and again rang the bell vigorously. Finally the elevator came slowly down from the upper regions.

"See here," said the senator, "what do you mean by making me climb these stairs and then not stopping to take me down?"

"Aw, gwan!" shouted the elevator boy. "This here elevator don't carry no passengers after 6 o'clock except the ladies what mop up the floors!"

RAILROAD AFFAIRS OF THE DAY.

MARVELOUS ESCAPE

Of B. & O. Conductor Thomas McDermott From Death on Barnesville Hill—Story of Accident From Which He Escaped Slightly Hurt.

There is probably not a railroad man in Newark, who has not had escapes from death that appeared to be and were miraculous if he has had much experience on the road.

Death lurks around every curve, stalks in every cut and hides in every tunnel. It is so well known as to be almost truistic to recite the dangers of the engineer as he dashes on through the darkness and storm, over bridges that span raging torrents, over stretches of track that may at any moment be covered with the debris of a landslide. With the fireman in the cab, at the front end of a train, the engineer is almost every moment as he peers through the cab windows, gazing into the night.

A head-on collision due to a mistake in orders, a derailment due to a broken rail, and countless others are the perils that beset the men in a locomotive cab.

With these self-evident hazards to think of, on the part of the engineer, one is inclined to forget the risks of another class of railroad men, even more insidious than those with which the engineman has to contend. This class of men is composed of freight conductors and brakemen.

These men as they bowl along over the road are in many respects in greater and more constant peril than the men in the cab, with less chance to use every means to its appointed end in averting disaster. At the first sign of trouble the fireman may jump, and the engineman after reversing his engine, and setting the air brakes, often has time to follow. More frequently, however these noble fellows are found dead, with their lifeless hands clutching the throttles or air brake levers.

The freight trainmen, however, are "into it" before they have time to jump or in any way protect themselves, if it is a head-on collision. If the men on the engine have had even a moment's time they are off. The first shock of the collision has thrown the brakemen and conductors off their feet and as the secondary crash, the "slack" of the train closing with crushing force, comes, they are caught in the splintering impact and maimed and crushed almost beyond recognition in the debris of the wrecked train.

The modern air brake appliances, than which there is no more efficacious safeguard to the life of the railroad man, is often a savor of death to the conductor or brakeman. A breaking of an air connection, sets the brakes on the cars to such an extent that it checks the speed suddenly with the result that often the train is wrecked.

MR. BEAUMONT

First Incumbent in New Position With B. & O. Company at Newark. His Railway Career.

As was announced in Monday's Advocate, H. A. Beaumont, who for some time past has held the position of general foreman of the Baltimore and Ohio shops at Zanesville, has been made the general car inspector of the Baltimore and Ohio, with headquarters in Newark. The position of general car inspector has only recently been created, and Mr. Beaumont will be the first incumbent. This official will be virtually in charge of all the car work on the Newark, Cleveland and Chicago divisions and he will also have jurisdiction over the Zanesville shops. Although a comparatively young man, Mr. Beaumont has made a splendid record for himself in railway work.

EARLY SPRING

Predicted by Old Weather Prophets.

It is predicted by old weather prophets that the spring will be an early one. The flowers will be in bloom by the first of April, and the birds will be singing by the first of May. The weather will be warm and sunny, and the crops will be in good condition.

suit that often the trainmen are jerked off or thrown between the cars.

A miraculous escape, and one which was enough to hopelessly rack the nerves of a man with less bravery and courage, was that of Conductor Thomas McDermott, last Friday afternoon in a wreck that occurred in a cut west of Barnesville, while descending the famous "Barnesville Hill."

There is no man in the employ of the B. & O. who is a better equipped railroad man, holding the respect and confidence of the officials of the road as well as his fellow workman, than Tom McDermott. For a dozen years he has run a train over every division of the road, and an accident that happens to his train may be set down as occurring through no fault or negligence of his.

Conductor McDermott was coming down the Barnesville hill in charge of the first section of freight train number 25, with 36 cars all equipped with air. They entered a cut west of Barnesville, the front brakeman using the hand brakes to steady the train. McDermott was back of the middle of the train standing on a box car, alert to every movement of the swaying cars.

Three cars in front was a car loaded with pipes, piled between standards that went up on either side. Suddenly one of these standards broke, the pipes went off the side, bounding back under the car, derailing it. The car back of it came on jumping, crushing splintering and finally piling up in an inextricable mass. The car on which the brave conductor stood plowed through and over, finally clearing the cut and down an embankment. McDermott went with it and was thrown clear of the wrecked car into the field. Others cars and flying wreckage followed down the embankment. Every moment the bruised and bleeding, but conscious conductor expected his life to be crushed out. He closed his eyes for the terrible finality, but the disaster, and he found that he was not even seriously hurt. He immediately assumed charge of his train and gave the necessary instructions, the wreck train was ordered and the tracks were cleared as soon as possible.

Mr. McDermott is at his home, No. 22 Valandigham street, suffering with severe bruises about the back and legs but expects soon to be back on his regular and dangerous run.

His escape from death is considered marvelous, not only by the uninitiated but by old railroad men who are used to such things, and have probably been saved in an equally unaccountable manner.

He entered the employ of the Baltimore and Ohio at Baltimore as a messenger boy and has steadily worked his way upward by force of exceptional energy and executive and mechanical ability. Three years ago last month he succeeded James Wares as general foreman of the Zanesville shops. His superintendency has been most successful. He has enjoyed the confidence and esteem of his associates to an unusual degree, and is popular alike with his superiors and employees. Several persons have been mentioned as Mr. Beaumont's successor, but nothing definite in this line is as yet known.

To Furnish Meals.

Instructions have been issued to Pennsylvania railroad dining car conductors to furnish meals to passengers traveling "double" the road, and who, because of attendant circumstances have been unable to procure meals at division terminals. It is required however, of the dining car conductors that, before furnishing meals to travelers, that a report from the train conductor shall be received, setting forth the fact that the attendant circumstances accord with the spirit of the order.

Roundhouse Collapsed.

Dennison, March 10.—A portion of the large Pand's roundhouse here collapsed and two men narrowly escaped death. Thos. W. I. Shafer was taking an engine out of the house when something projecting caught a pillar, tearing it out and causing the fall of 150 feet of brick wall, burying the engine. Shafer was dug out but slightly injured. A. L. Martin, a machinist, working in an adjoining stall, narrowly escaped being crushed.

Coal Deposit.

Superintendent Potter of the Pennsylvania, who has completed an inspection of the division, reports that a very rich deposit of canal coal has just been found near Coshocton, and is being developed by a Pittsburg company. While on the trip Mr. Potter visited the mine. The Pennsylvania will build a switch to the mine at once.

Brown's Owl Stories.

There is a man at the B. & O. His name is John A. Brown. At writing tales about owl stories. He's gained a great renown.

He raises chickens and garden truck. And sells it day by day. But he says the thing of owl stories is by far the better pay.

Joe Wellie now is Brown's best chum. In the chicken raising "biz." For Joe gets Brown old owl eggs. And they're the best what is.

Brown works hard day by day. It almost makes him sick. To think that poor Joe Wellie has to walk from below Clay Lick.

Joe keeps books for John A. Brown. Brown he thinks that funny. For while Joe's working at his desk. Brown's collecting the money.

Now, Brown, we wish you great success. Wherever you may go. But whatever you do in this world. Please be good to Joe.

Now, Mr. Brown, we'll say good by. And when you pen upon a towel. Don't tell any more stories about. That poor old meek owl.

HOUSEWIVES HEADACHES

You don't know why you suffer from headache and you are apt to believe you have some dire female trouble, but it's dollars to doughnuts that you are wrong. Women are prone to put off the duties of Nature to attend to the duties of the home and when they do get time to go, the feeling has passed.

Constipation results and then the awful racing headache. Take a spoonful of every night before going to bed. Keep it up for a few weeks.

A. F. Reed of New York writes: "I have suffered from constipation for many years. I have tried many remedies but have not found relief until I began using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It has cured me and I feel much better now."

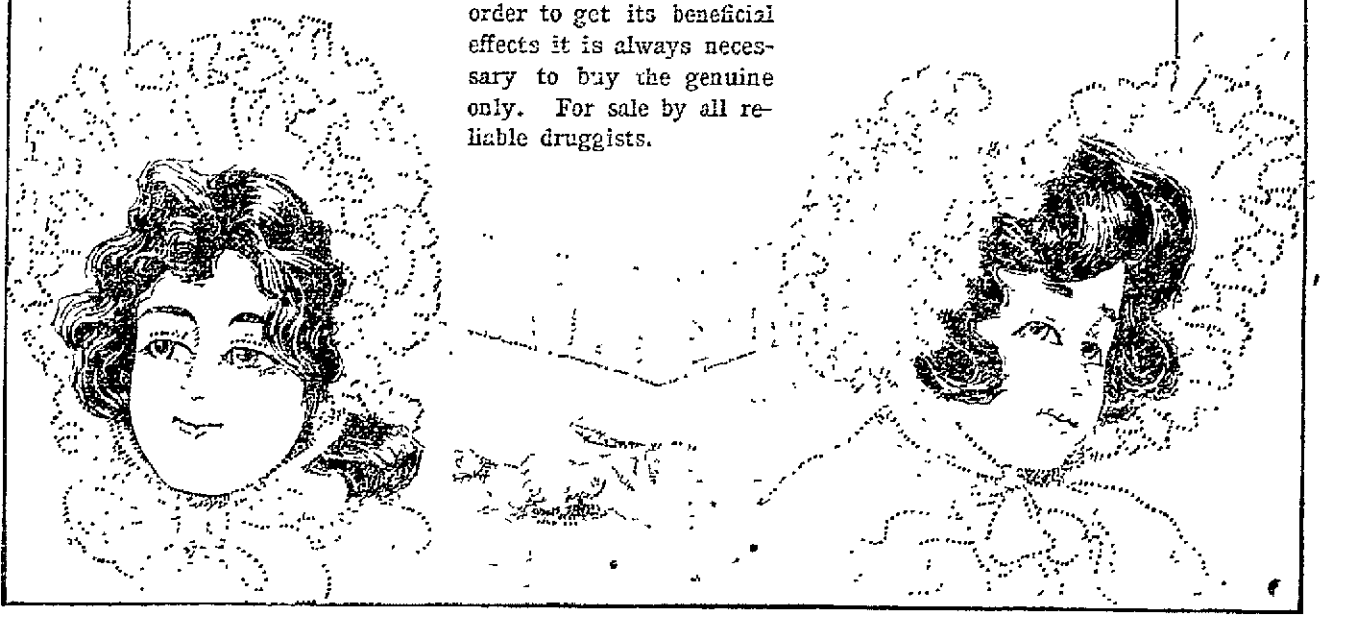

Your Money Back If It Doesn't Benefit You. PEPSIN SYRUP CO., Monticello, Ill.

THE CHILDREN ENJOY

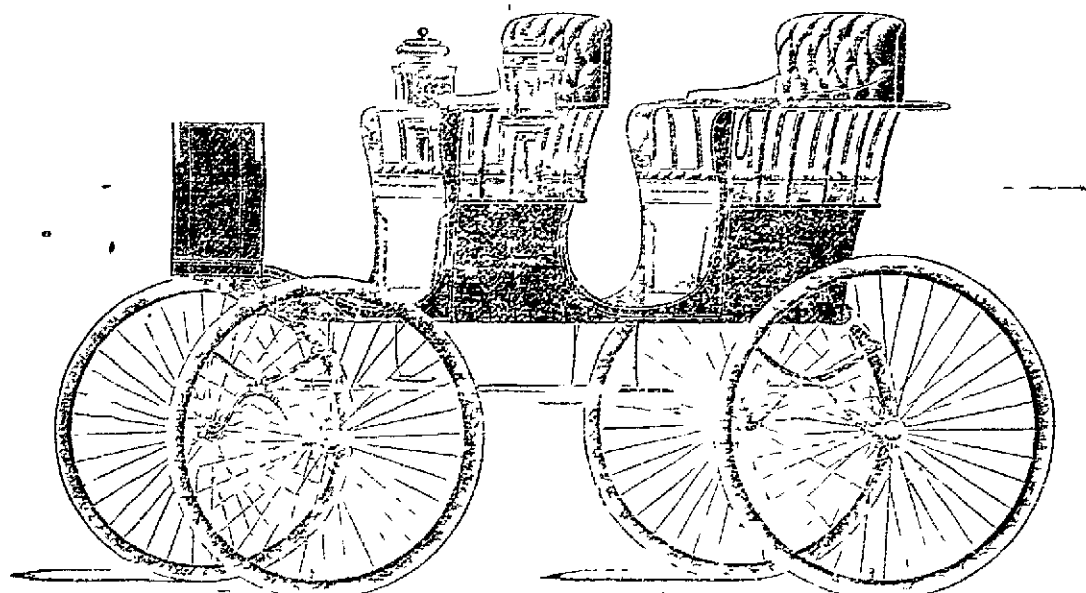

Life out of doors and out of the games which they play and the enjoyment which they receive and the efforts which they make, comes the greater part of that healthful development which is so essential to their happiness when grown. When a laxative is needed the remedy which is given to them to cleanse and sweeten and strengthen the internal organs on which it acts, should be such as physicians would sanction, because its component parts are known to be wholesome and the remedy itself free from every objectionable quality. The one remedy which physicians and parents, well-informed, approve and recommend and which the little ones enjoy, because of its pleasant flavor, its gentle action and its beneficial effects, is—Syrup of Figs—and for the same reason it is the only laxative which should be used by fathers and mothers.

Syrup of Figs is the only remedy which acts gently, pleasantly and naturally without griping, irritating, or nauseating and which cleanses the system effectually, without producing that constipated habit which results from the use of the old-time cathartics and modern imitations, and against which the children should be so carefully guarded. If you would have them grow to manhood and womanhood, strong, healthy and happy, do not give them medicines, when medicines are not needed, and when nature needs assistance in the way of a laxative, give them only the simple, pleasant and gentle—Syrup of Figs.

Its quality is due not only to the excellence of the combination of the laxative principles of plants with pleasant aromatic syrups and juices, but also to our original method of manufacture and as you value the health of the little ones, do not accept any of the substitutes which unscrupulous dealers sometimes offer to increase their profits. Please to remember, the full name of the Company—CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.—is printed on the front of every package. In order to get its beneficial effects it is always necessary to buy the genuine only. For sale by all reliable druggists.

GRANVILLE

Mrs. Dean Deeds Ill With Scarlet Fever—Cashier Slack is Preparing for New Duties.

Granville, O., March 10—Mrs. Dean Deeds, who has been suffering with an attack of scarlet fever at the home of her husband's parents, some three miles southeast of Granville, is reported as being considerably improved at this writing. Mr. and Mrs. Deeds were recently married at Centerburg.

Miss Nellie Phelps of Defiance is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. W. Ackley, on Granger street, for a short time.

C. B. Slack, who recently resigned his position as superintendent of the night school at the Ohio penitentiary to accept the position of cashier of the new Farmers' bank of Granville, has entered the Licking county bank of Newark, where he will remain until the first of April, preparing himself for his new duties.

HANOVER.

The entertainment given by the school on Friday evening was a grand success. The church was crowded to its utmost capacity and many were turned away. The program was carried out in a faultless manner, and reflected great credit on those taking part, and fully exemplified the excellent condition of the school under the efficient management of Prof. Householder, and his able corps of assistants.

ZANESVILLE CANDIDATES.

Zanesville, March 10—Thirty-nine candidates for municipal office are announced in this morning's Times-Recorder. W. B. Deacon, Asa H. McDonald, A. B. Wostall, E. J. Welsh and Dr. E. C. Brush want the Republican nomination for mayor. Chas. T. Atwell, who is well known in Newark and Granville, is a candidate for city treasurer.

After Sickness

Take Vinol—Our Great Strength Creator.

IT GIVES ONE A SPLENDID APPETITE.

AND QUICKLY REBUILDS THE SYSTEM.

We Will Refund the Price of Vinol if It Fails.

The worst part of sickness, frequently, is getting over it. The patient's strength is depleted, his system is generally demoralized, relapses are continually feared, and, naturally,

The one thing to aid recovery is to give the patient that which will enable him to get strong, and at the same time give strength direct to the different organs of the body.

Nothing will do this like Vinol. It acts directly on the stomach, creates a healthy appetite, and enables the digestive organs to obtain the necessary elements to increase the weight of the patient and to make new healthy flesh and muscle tissue and pure, rich, red blood.

The following is a letter showing where Vinol was taken and did good after a case of sickness. It reads as follows:

"I wish to certify to the very great benefit which has been derived from the use of Vinol in my family. My wife was very sick with the grippe and afterward was wholly run down. One bottle of Vinol placed her on her feet in better condition than she had been before in six months. I heartily recommend and endorse it."—HENRY F. STURTEVANT, 81 Huntington St., Brockton, Mass.

Everything that is in Vinol is plainly printed on the label of each package.

We know Vinol is a splendid preparation, and in many cases we have been able to see for ourselves the wonderful results it brings about.

Remember that we guarantee Vinol and refund the purchase money if you are not satisfied.

CLAY LICK

Correspondent Tells Why Chickenville Was So Named—Need of Church. Personal Items.

Clay Lick, O., March 10—Chickenville, practically a suburb of our wide-awake village, is famed for the sterling qualities of its inhabitants and the origin of its name. Perhaps more than a half century ago when a goodly part of this section was a wilderness, when the people were wont to enjoy themselves hunting and fishing and having various kinds of "frolics" such as log rollings, corn huskings, quiltings and apple peelings, there came to the hamlet of now known the county over as Chickenville, and lived for a year or two, a family that possessed a penchant for "chicken." It is said the family was as fond of eating chicken as Methodist preachers, whose capacity for chicken is great, and that in order to gratify this fondness, they would make frequent nocturnal visits to the chicken coops of not far away neighbors and take therefrom the chickens. The people robbed of their chickens made life so unpleasant for the robbers that soon they moved to other parts, perhaps to a land of more chickens, and from that time to this Chickenville has been the practical, if not euphonious name of the hamlet.

Charlie Rian an old Clay Lick boy, now of Newark, was here a part of last week, circulating among friends.

Messrs. Tom and Ed Hickey and Charlie Johnson Sundayed with Newark friends.

Clay Lick's superlative need is a well appointed "church building in which any denomination could conduct meetings.

Miss Ola Bostwick of Newark, is the charming guest of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jones.

The meetings in progress here are well attended and are being fruitful of not a little good. Rev. John Shepherd has charge of them.

Mr. Ross Morrison was here from Cottage Hill Sunday, the guest of relatives.

Mrs. Rosa Cowgill who has been ill for more than a week, is convalescing and her many friends are glad.

Mrs. Alva Penman, nee Whiteford, of Newark, is visiting her parents at this place.

MT. VERNON

Is Today Voting on the Local Option Question—Much Interest Taken in the Election.

Mt. Vernon, O., March 10—The great local option fight is on today and the ballots for and against the saloons are falling. The last local option mass meeting of the campaign was held last night at the Methodist church when Hon. Thomas H. Clark, author of the Clark local option bill, and Prof. Curry of Urbana, who spoke in Toyler Hall at Newark, on Sunday, addressed the people. Both sides are active and the result of today's vote can not be predicted.

THEFT IS CHARGED.

Mt. Vernon, March 10—Walter Styers, formerly of this place is under arrest at Chicago for grand larceny. He is charged with stealing a diamond ring from a friend, Gaylord Lawman formerly of Mt. Vernon.

NOT GUILTY

WAS FRANK CAIN ON CHARGE OF BURGLARY.

Real Estate Transfers and Other Matters of Interest Transpiring in the Courts.

The case of the State of Ohio vs. Frank Cain was tried on Monday and Tuesday, the defendant being charged in the indictment with having committed a burglary. The charge against him was that he, on last November, had broken into the store of Roe Emerson in Johnstown and stole a lot of clothing. The case was very hotly contested, the prosecution claiming that they had found Cain in possession of a pair of gloves which had been stolen that night. They also claimed that he had made confessions implicating a number of persons in and about Johnstown. The defense claimed that he was not near the store that night; that he had purchased the gloves which were found in his possession at the store of Roe Emerson, and that any confessions which he had made were involuntary, having been given by him when under duress of imprisonment, and when he was in a very excited state of mind. The testimony of several witnesses tending to show that the degree of intelligence of defendant was not above if equal to the average was given.

Upwards of 50 witnesses were subpoenaed. The case was elaborately argued to the jury by counsel, and after the charge was given to them by the Court the jury retired and after extensive deliberation returned a verdict finding the defendant not guilty and he was discharged by the Court. Chas. W. Miller and Chas. L. Flory were counsel for the defendant, J. R. Fitzgibbon for the state.

The Clerk of Court is now making out the Circuit Court docket and all attorneys who have petitions in error to file are requested to file them at once.

LIBRARY COLLECTION

H. H. Bancroft Former Granville Man Has Devoted Many Years of His Life to Collection of Historical Material—A Valuable Collection.

Mr. Hubert Howe Bancroft, who was born and reared in Granville, has devoted many years of his life to the collection of historical material consisting of books, pamphlets, manuscripts, private and official letters, records and documents of all kinds, pertaining to the history and development of the Pacific states. The collection amounts to a library of 40,000 volumes and 3000 manuscripts. Of the manuscripts 593 are personal narratives and reminiscences of pioneers on the Pacific coast. This library, which is stored in a special building near San Francisco, is now offered for sale at $300,000.

This is a forcible illustration of the value seemingly worthless historical material assumes on being brought together into a representative collection and rendered accessible to students and investigators.

Other illustrations of the same fact are these: The late Peter Force, mayor of Washington, devoted forty years to amassing a library of over 22,000 volumes of manuscripts, newspapers, maps, books and pamphlets on various subjects of interest to students of American life and history. So valuable was this magnificent collection regarded that it was purchased years ago by the United States government at a cost of $100,000.

The government paid $45,000 for the books, journals, private letters and papers of George Washington; $23,000 for the Jefferson collection; $20,000 each for the Hamilton collections; $35,000 for the Franklin collection, and $20,000 for the Rochambeau collection of manuscripts.

In fact the Federal government has paid out more than $2,000,000 in the acquisition and publication of historical matter pertaining to this country alone, and is annually expending more than $250,000 directly in behalf of American history. Thousands of dollars it expends yearly in the collection and preservation of data concerning the life, habits, customs and traditions of the American Indian, and has of late given special attention to Negro literature in the United States.

Many of the government libraries of Europe have been buying for years past historical matter at enormous prices, matter which a century ago they would have slighted even as a gift. The collections of the Kansas State Historical Society are estimated to be worth $175,000, and those of the New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin societies, are doubtless of even greater value.

The 6,000 volumes of Chinese literature recently presented to Columbia university, are said to be worth $7,000.

The library of some 2,500 volumes of books and pamphlets relating to various Welsh subjects, collected by Mr. Henry Blackwell of New York, is valued at not less than $10,000.

The Richard T. Ely collection of about 8000 books and pamphlets bearing on the social movement in America was recently purchased by the John Crerar Library, Chicago. This collection is rich in labor union literature, and that pertaining to co-operative communities.

Libraries and institutions of learning are frequently beneficiaries of important collections of historical material of great value covering widely different subjects of study.

Thus, in the Princeton Theological seminary is to be found a remarkably full collection of works on the Baptist controversy, embracing over 2000 volumes and 3000 pamphlets; also a collection of 200 volumes of Puritan theology, gifts of friends.

The Chicago University was recently the recipient of the Walter H. Wilson library of 14,000 volumes on athletic sports.

Harvard University has received from John Drew, the actor, a library of theatrical history and biography. The Lord Acton collection of 70,000 volumes, illustrative of the gradual substitution of freedom for force in government, once the property of Andrew Carnegie, was lately presented to the University of Cambridge, England, by John Morley.

In 1834 Professor Crane presented to Cornell University a valuable collection of material on French and Italian society, in the 16th and 17th centuries. Cornell has also received as a gift the Andrew D. White library. This library is especially strong in the history of superstition, including witchcraft, torture and similar subjects.

Among the treasures of the Boston public library is a collection of 4,000 Spanish and Portuguese books and manuscripts made by the late George Ticknor. In the New York Public Library also, is to be found a rare collection of some 15,000 volumes, the gift of James Lenox. This collection is exceptionally rich in editions of the Bible and in American historical material.

The Lanberg collection of 842 volumes of Arabic manuscripts was purchased by Mr. Morris K. Jessup of New York at a cost of over $21,000, and in 1900 presented to Yale University. In the same year a similar gift of manuscripts was made to Princeton University. These gifts mark an epoch in the history of Arabic studies in this country.

In 1901 the John Carter Brown collection on American history, probably the finest of the kind in existence, was given to Brown University. Accompanying the gift was $150,000 for the erection of a special building for the collection and $500,000 for a permanent endowment.

About the same time Gen. John Watts de Peyster, presented to the Smithsonian Institution his rare library of 2,000 books and pamphlets relating to Napoleon Bonaparte. This collection is a very complete one, containing books from all countries and in all languages.

The secret of the value of these collections lies in the fact of their completeness. Completeness in one or more directions is the motto and watchword of the modern collector.

For a truly representative collection illustrative of any subject of investigation has not only a scientific value, but invariably commands a price in the open market.

The Pan-Racial Institute is engaged in the collection of historical and antiquarian material pertaining to the life and culture of the different races or nationalities of mankind. It desires that its collections shall be as complete and representative as may be.

Pan-Racial Institute Chapter No. 1, the local branch of the Welsh of Kymric Department of the Institute, aims to gather all available material illustrative of the influence and achievements of the Welsh race in this locality. This material, it is understood, will be forwarded in due time to the Institute at Philadelphia for preservation.

A Baby's Birth

is very much like the blossoming of a flower. Its beauty and perfection depends entirely upon the care bestowed upon its parent. Expectant mothers should have the tenderest care. EST. 1847. Allcock's POROUS PLASTERS

Are a universal remedy for Pains in the Back (so frequent in the case of women). They give instantaneous relief. Wherever there is a pain apply a Plaster.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE

For pains in the region of the kidneys, or for a Weak Back, the plaster should be applied as shown above. Wherever there is a pain apply Allcock's Plaster.

For Rheumatism or Pains in Shoulders, Elbows or elsewhere, or for Sprains, Stiffness, etc., and for Aching Feet, cut plaster size and shape required and apply to part affected as shown above.

For Sore Throat, Coughs, Bronchitis, for Weak Lungs and for painful and sensitive parts of the abdomen, apply as indicated.

Rheumatism, Colds, Coughs Weak Chest, Weak Back Lumbago, Sciatica, &c., &c.

If you want the best results, the quickest and cleanest cure, use Allcock's Plasters. They are far superior to belladonna, which is the extract of deadly night shade, a virulent poison, and never should be used except by direction of a physician. Allcock's Plasters contain no poisons. They cure by absorption. Absolutely curative, perfectly harmless.

Read letter from Prof. Henry A. Mott, the eminent chemist.

"My investigation of ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTER shows it to contain valuable and essential ingredients not found in any other plaster, and I find it superior to and more efficient than any other plaster."

OUR HENS CHALLENGED.

Their Egg Laying Ability to Be Tested in Australia.

According to a San Francisco special to the Chicago Tribune the following challenge has been issued to all American poultrymen by the secretary of the "laying competition" in Australia to determine the ability of hens to lay eggs:

"Americans are invited to send over three pens of the best laying strains of any breed except Brahmas to take part in the next competition in April or May next. The pens each consist of six pullets, but in case of death we will ask for eight birds to be sent. To show we are in earnest we are prepared to pay all expenses."

These Americans have been chosen to send specimens: W. K. Hays, Honeyville, Cal., white Wyandottes; Mrs. A. H. Hunsel, Loup City, Neb., single comb brown Leghorns; W. R. Calbre, Fayetteville, N. Y., white Wyandottes.

More Riots.

Disturbances of strikers are not nearly as grave as an individual disorder of the system. There's nothing so efficient to cure disorders of the Liver or Kidneys as Electric Bitters. It's a wonderful tonic, and effective nerve and the greatest all around medicine for run down systems. It dispels Nervousness, Rheumatism and Neuralgia and expels Malaria germs. Only 50c, and satisfaction guaranteed by F. D. Hall druggist.

VAST BUFFALO TRUST.

Pawnee Bill's Plans For Saving the Bison.

TO BE HERDED ON WISCONSIN FARM

All the Wild Ones of the World Said to Have Been Corralled—Markets Will Be Supplied With Meat of the Prairie Monarchs at Fancy Prices, as There Is a Large Demand.

Major Gordon W. Lillie, president of the Arkansas Valley National bank at Pawnee, O. T., who is known throughout the west as "Pawnee Bill," has bought a tract of 500 acres of land just west of Kenosha, Wis. In the early spring he will take to that city the first herd of wild buffalo ever brought east of the Mississippi river, says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Incidentally Major Lillie will teach the people of the middle west some new things in regard to the organization of trusts and combines in the live stock world. A million dollar buffalo trust is one of the oddest combinations of capital ever formed in this time of combination, but Major Lillie, through the aid of Lloyd F. Nicodemus, has managed to bring about such a combination, and his trust is so securely formed that the statistics of the government show that the trust has corralled every wild buffalo in the United States and Canada and in fact the entire world.

The monarch of the plains has served his time in his original state, and in the future it is the purpose of Major Lillie to force this great herd of buffalo to assist in furnishing the meat supply for great cities like Chicago and New York.

Major Lillie is one of the great believers in the west. He has made and lost half a dozen fortunes among the western wilds and is one of the few men who are loath to see the disappearance of the features that have made the western part of the country famous as the home of the Indian and the cowboy. To band this picture of early America down to posterity Major Lillie has arranged to transport to the east a portion of the people who have made this life possible, and they will be settled on the large farm along with the buffalo.

The Indians who were formerly scattered over the plains and mountains are fast disappearing. The buffalo has disappeared, the cowboy with his big hat and leather trappings is nothing more than a common herder of cattle and the trapper who dealt in the pelts of the denizens of that western border is only a tradition. Major Lillie grew up in this scene, and it is his purpose to preserve a little of the primal life and hand down to other generations one isolated colony of the representatives of the forgotten past.

The land that has been bought by Major Lillie and his associates is one of the finest pieces of property on the shore of Lake Michigan. Its buildings were built years ago in the form of a southern plantation. The little cottages which were formerly used as the homes of tenants will become the homes of the Indians brought from the plains. In these modern wigwags, far from the home of their sires and the campfires of the past, will live the representatives of the Cheyennes, the Arapahoes and the Kiowas.

For the last ten years Major Lillie and Mr. Nicodemus have been at work getting into a single herd all the buffalo in the world, but the task is now practically completed, and the major has a single herd consisting of 365 animals. All of these will be brought to the east, where they will be in easy touch with the markets of New York and Chicago. In getting this herd together Major Lillie has recently bought the famous "Goodnight" herd in Texas and the Alvord herd in Montana. The only animals of the race now to be found outside of this herd are in the parks of New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Yellowstone and Cincinnati.

In removing his stock from the west to the shores of Lake Michigan Major Lillie states that the move is purely a business one. The plains of the west are no longer a fit place for the home of the valued herd. Every year a scourge of Texas fever sweeps up from the south, and several times in the last few years the herd has been almost wiped out. Even at the present time the animals are being guarded to prevent the return of the fever. Besides this fact the Indians have become troublesome, and a band of soldiers is altogether insufficient to defend the animals against the onslaughts of the Indians. The annual buffalo feast is one of the established customs of the Indians, and they would willingly face a full army of soldiers rather than let a year pass without observing the feast.

Buffalo meat has never been a commercial product in this section of the world, but in the last few years the meat of the animal has become a fad in the ultrafashionable society, and fancy prices have been offered for even small quantities of the meat. During the holiday season Major Lillie shipped a score of butchered buffalo to New York, and for them he received more than $3 a pound.

Novel Prison Sentence.

Three days of each year in solitary confinement is part of the extraordinary penitentiary sentence imposed upon Frank Morgan by a Summit county (O.) judge, says a Columbus dispatch to the Chicago Inter Ocean. Morgan was convicted of what is in Ohio the penitentiary offense of abandoning his family and given a three year sentence with the above provision as a feature. The same judge ordered that the first thirty days of the sentence of a man who was tried before him some time ago should be in solitary confinement.

THE REVERED PONTIFF

James Creelman's Reminiscences of the Pope.

FAMED FOR BROAD LIBERALITY.

Americans, Protestants, Catholics and All, Are Regarded by Leo XIII. as His Children—His Sole Aim in Life to Labor For Good of the Human Race—How He Sacrificed Himself to Principle.

For twenty-five years the frail successor of St. Peter, Pope Leo XIII., who has just celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of his coronation, has been a voluntary prisoner in the Vatican, a palace of 11,000 rooms, says James Creelman in the New York World. In all that time he has not once set his feet in the streets of his ancient capital, and yet even in Italian law he is a king. When his predecessor, Pius IX., surrendered Rome to the troops of Victor Emmanuel more than thirty years ago, it was guaranteed that the pope should always have the status of a visiting sovereign and that he should have exterritoriality the Vatican and its gardens, the palace of the chancery, the four great basilicas—St. Peter's, St. John of the Lateran, St. Mary the Great and St. Paul's, outside the walls—besides the Cathedral of Monza, which holds the iron crown of Lombardy.

It was also agreed that the Italian conquerors should pay something like a million dollars a year for the maintenance of the pontifical court. Leo XIII. has always ignored communication from the Italian government relating to the money and has refused to accept a stipend from the invaders of his kingdom. Even when the pope's favorite brother, Cardinal Pecci, lay dying in the Barberini palace, in Rome, his holiness endured the anguish of separation rather than compromise the triple crown by making the journey across the city. The Latin poem which he afterward addressed to his brother in heaven revealed the awful ordeal through which he passed that day and night.

In spite of his ninety-two years and the enervation of his always delicate body, Leo XIII. possesses a reserve of strength which has for years astonished the world. When I interviewed him in the Vatican thirteen years ago, he was so slight, so pale, so like a white robed spirit, all gentleness and benignity, that his deep, strong, resonant voice was startling.

But even now the pope is capable of sustaining prolonged strains in the reception of pilgrims that would tire a young man. One of the most characteristic traits of Leo XIII. is his broad liberality. During the interview I had with him he spoke again and again of the Protestants and always with affection.

"I have a claim upon Americans for their respect," he said, "because I love them and their country. I have a great tenderness for those who live in that land. Protestants are all. Under the constitution of the United States religion has perfect liberty and is a growing power for good. The church thrives in the air of freedom. I love and bless Americans for their frank, unaffected character and for the respect which they have for Christian morals and the Christian religion."

And again he said: "You are all my children, Protestants, Catholics, all, all. God has placed me here to watch over you. I have no other aim on earth than to labor for the good of the human race. I want the Protestants of the United States as well as the Catholics to understand me." The great unrepentant pope's life is the whole Christian world to the Orthodox and the Greek church. He also wrote the beautiful message of the Church of England.

turn to the fold. But he called across the world in vain. The effect of his tolerant, conciliatory attitude, however, has been to break down the fierce bigotry which divided Christian peoples when he first sat in the fisherman's chair.

It is hard to forget his words on the very question which is in the forefront of American politics today:

"I have watched the growing helplessness of the suffering working classes throughout the world with anxiety and grief. While I live I will labor to bring about a change. Human law cannot reach the real seat of the conflict between capital and labor. Governments and legislatures are helpless to restore harmony. The various sections must do their work, and I must do mine. Their work is local and particular, such as the maintenance of order and the enforcement of ameliorative laws. But my work as the head of Christendom must be universal and on a different plane.

"The world must be re-Christianized. The moral condition of the workingman and his employer must be improved. Each must look at the other through Christian eyes. That is the only way. How vain are the efforts which seek to bring contentment to man and master by legislation, forgetting that the Christian religion alone can draw men together in love and peace."

The Cake Walk's New French Rival. There is another dance in Paris growing in popularity which may oust the cake walk, says the New York American. It is called the taminin. Students of the Latin quarter are popularizing it. It is more absurd and grotesque than the American cake walk.

MORGAN'S NEW LIBRARY.

Building to Be Erected in Rear of Banker's New York Home.

J. Pierpont Morgan's private library and art gallery to be erected in the rear of his Madison avenue and East Thirty-sixth street home, in New York, will be the largest in the country. The architects, McKim, Mead & White, said that the plans had not been completed, but the understanding is that it is Mr. Morgan's purpose to have the structure built with as little inconvenience as possible to his neighbors and not have it dwarf houses near by. The cost of the structure is to be $350,000, says the New York Commercial Advertiser.

The plans in the bureau of buildings are for a two story structure, with a frontage of 115.2 feet on Thirty-sixth street and lawn space in front. It is to be in the shape of a T, the central section to be 73.5 feet in depth. The two wings are to be about forty feet each. The foundation is on bedrock at seven feet below the ground level. The foundations are of rock, and the supporting walls are to be of brick. There is to be a main hall, with the bookshelves along the wall, and several mezzanine floors that are not to extend the length of the building or the wings, but are to afford room for reading in alcoves. The plans call for a building as fireproof as can be, as thousands of books and manuscripts are to be stored.

HAIRY CHICKENS.

Secretary Wilson's Fowl Onlookers by a Chicagoan's Efforts.

While Secretary Wilson and his department of agriculture are trying to produce a featherless breed of hens for the southern states Miller Burris of Chicago, a noted authority on henology, is busy producing chickens with hair on instead of feathers for cold climates, says the Pittsburgh Dispatch.

The experiments are conducted by Dr. W. M. Black of Bolivar, O. The fowls produced by Dr. Black are called Klondike chickens, and the doctor says they are warmly enough thrashed to stand any amount of cold and go right on laying eggs.

He believes that an arctic explorer supplied with a dozen of his hens can travel all over the frigid regions and have fresh laid eggs and broilers through all the journey. The doctor's chickens and a f.

NEW PRIMARY BATTERY

Invention of a Lawyer That May Do Marvels.

SUSTAINED POWER IS ALLEGED.

Running an Automobile and Maintaining Electric Lights Apparent Feats of the Cells—Fascinated With a Model, Henry Halsey of New York Abandons All to Perfect It.

Fascinated by the idea involved in a model left in his office, Henry Halsey, a young lawyer of New York, nearly four years ago deliberately sacrificed his growing practice, turned from his briefs and cases and forgot everything in the study of it, says the New York Herald.

Now, after the years of study, after he has expended his own resources, and with capital supplied by two friends, he has perfected what is declared to be practical electricians have studied Mr. Halsey's models. According to their reports there is but one opinion. "If the battery does what it appears to do, it is a wonderful invention," they say.

Scientists, among them the foremost electricians of the country, a committee of United States engineers and practical electricians have studied Mr. Halsey's models. According to their reports there is but one opinion. "If the battery does what it appears to do, it is a wonderful invention," they say. With a battery of fifteen cells weighing 300 pounds in an automobile of the runabout pattern Mr. Halsey has ridden about New York for hours, with four horsepower ready at any time he might need it. He asserts that with the same machine he can go to Philadelphia at a uniform speed of ten miles an hour, climb hills as steep as any other automobile, stop there just long enough to replenish the electrolyte in his cells and return to New York at the same rate. The cost, he declares, will be 75 cents each way.

At a recent private exhibition, in addition to the automobile, he, with four cells, maintained thirty small electric lights as long as he wished. One cell weighing less than seven pounds operated by a clockwork arrangement he asserted would be an ideal sparkler for the largest gasoline automobile made and would run six hours without replenishing. He already has an order for 100 cells to be placed in the launch of a New Yorker. The cells will weigh 2,000 pounds when completed, will develop twenty-five horsepower in an emergency and will run ordinarily ten hours before the electrolyte must be renewed.

Stripped of technicalities, the lawyer's battery is nothing more than an ordinary battery in which the carbon disk is made to revolve in the sulphuric acid and water. The zinc plates are, as in the common battery, stationary. From the disk the element of power is taken by brushes against which it revolves. These connect with posts through which wires are passed leading to the motor.

Contrary as it may appear, the motor run by the battery in turn revolves the disks by which the sustained power is furnished. This was explained by Mr. Halsey.

"There is as much power in all primary batteries as in mine," he said. "The only difference is it does not last. The ordinary battery will make an electric light, it will run a motor, but for a few minutes only. It is this short lived power that I use. In each cell the carbon disks are cogged, and they fit into cogwheels at the top of the cell. In a chain of cells the cogwheels are joined by a rod. When the current is first turned on, there is power enough to turn the wheels of the motor for several seconds. This of course turns the cogwheels, which produce the sustained power. The force of the battery, therefore, never dies out. The whole idea is simply explained thus: The primary battery which operates a doorbell lasts, say, for six months. I simply cut its life down to six or seven hours by the revolving brushes, gaining, therefore, so much more power."

Mr. Halsey is about thirty-five years of age and is a member of a well known Philadelphia family. He went to New York to practice law about two years ago. He prospered and for several years lived at the Waldorf-Astoria. It was there he met an Italian business man four years ago who told him of the invention of a primary battery by Dr. Isidor Kitzie of Philadelphia. This man had obtained an option on it and intended to purchase it. He was recalled to his native land, however, and in departing left the model with the lawyer, with instructions to see what could be done. Mr. Halsey began to study it. He found he would have to study electricity first. He did this and took the model to his rooms at the Waldorf-Astoria. His bathroom became his laboratory.

He forgot his law practice and spent his savings. He moved from the hotel to other quarters, and finally just as he thought he would have to give up he met two wealthy men of Pennsylvania who had known him there, and after they had investigated they told him to go ahead and there would be money enough supplied. He did so, working in a little west side machine shop, and after three years finds himself one-third owner of twenty-two patents obtained in the principal countries of the world.

Turkish Sultan's New Orders.

The sultan is said to be doing everything possible to prevent Turks from mixing one another and has forbidden them to enter any place where drinks are sold under the plea that it is against their religion. A new order now prohibits barbers from having more chairs in their shops than those necessary for shaving their clients. There must be no surplus ones, because persons, while waiting their turn, talk politics.

FOR THE SOUTH.

Pale Colored Gowns—Feather Muffs and Stoles.

Cream and mastic, pale pastel blue and several shades of pink and strawberry are popular for costumes and gowns intended for the south. The cost costume is not so universally in demand, and it is more modish to have a three-quarter sack coat for cool days, the gown being made with a short bolero and altogether in more elaborate fashion to wear with a feather tippet in warm weather.

A Russian blouse lately designed had a full front of ivory satin gathered to a lace yoke, and the broad collar and revers of cloth were ornamented with the panne. The sleeve in bell form was tucked at the widest part and drawn into a cuff of panne. One of the new stoles of chinchilla colored marabout was worn with this gown, and the very large flat muff had two bushy tails on either side.

These feather sets will be much worn in the spring, and they are exceedingly warm and cozy, being so large and full that they quite cover the shoulders.

The illustration shows a stole of ermine trimmed with a broad boudon of lace.

FOR EVENING WEAR.

Economical Crepe de Chine—Smart Black Gowns.

Evening gowns have never been more beautiful and varied than they have been this winter nor perhaps more costly, for they are of the most diaphanous and therefore perishable materials, which need to be made up over silk of the best quality or else their effect is lost.

When economy is to be considered, a crepe de chine gown is advisable, for, though the initial cost of this fabric may be great, a really good crepe de chine will wear splendidly and will emerge triumphant from the ordeal of cleaning and remodeling.

The same advantage may be claimed for the chintilly and sprigged Brussels nets, which are also extremely fashionable, both in ivory and black. Some of the loveliest gowns are mainly fashioned of chiffon and tulle, which are both as fragile as they are effective. Black is so extremely becoming to some women that it remains in high favor, especially for dinner or theater wear.

The gown in the picture is of ivory crepe de chine, trimmed with applique or wide meshed net. The belt is of green and white taffeta.

Senior Luther League.

The Senior Luther League will convene this evening in its regular religious and business session. A paper will be read by Mrs. F. H. Ottman on "The Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society," after which a musical program will be rendered. The League will then initiate new members, after which business of importance will be transacted.

PERFUMED STATUES.

Parisian Sculptors Add New Fad to That of Fixing Marble.

The latest fashion among Parisian sculptors is to perfume as well as color their feminine figures, says the Paris correspondent of the New York World. The practice of tinting the marble has been going on in favor with French sculptors to such an extent that in the last few years a pure white statue, particularly if representing a woman, has been a rarity.

The younger men, in their desire to produce something ultra realistic, mix their paints with oils specially prepared with powerful perfumes, thus giving an added touch of realism to the statues by making an appeal to the sense of smell as well as to that of sight. The true Parisian is an enthusiastic admirer of perfume.

Demand For Plant Doctors.

Plant doctors are coming into demand. In most of the English colonies the only plant doctor is the local agent of the British India Company. In the United States, however, the demand for plant doctors is increasing. Their services are in demand in all parts of the country.

SPAIN'S LOSS OF CUBA

Secret History of the Spanish-American War.

WOODFORD'S SPARRING FOR TIME.

Remarkable Story Told by Former American Minister at Madrid—That "Sealed Express Train" Affair—War With United States Laid to Lack of Four Torpedo Boat Destroyers.

Under the heading of "The Secret History of a Modern War" the London magazine Black and White, prompted by Spain's suit against Clyde shipbuilders for $375,000 damages because of failure to deliver four torpedo boat destroyers on time and which has just been won by the Spanish government, says:

"There is a divinity that shapes our ends, but the Spanish government believes today that had she had the four gunboats which were building for her she would have prevented the landing of rifles, ammunition and men and, having the Cubans isolated from outside resistance, have subjugated them before the United States dreamed of interfering.

"The law action is a remarkable one, but there is a still more extraordinary story in connection with the Spanish-American war.

"Spain was unready, her minister of marine tells us. Had she known what we now know perhaps the government would not have waited so long. Bad as may have been the condition of the Spaniards, the Americans were in a still more parlous plight, and all the diplomatic trickeries, the delays and feints of which the world was witness in the spring of 1898, were parts of a huge scheme to put off the inevitable declaration of war until America dared safely make it.

"The story is one of the most remarkable in the history of modern warfare and is told by no less an authority than Mr. Stewart L. Woodford, who at the time was American minister at Madrid. Negotiations of a more or less delicate character, with war always looming in the distance, had been in progress for some months, when on Feb. 15, 1898, the United States battleship Maine was blown up in the harbor of Havana.

"Through departments other than the state department, Mr. Woodford has told us, I received telegraphic information on Feb. 18. There were not on the American ships or in the advance depots in the United States two rounds of powder per gun at that time, and I was told to exhaust the arts of peace until April 15, the earliest date at which we could be anywhere near ready for war.

"I did the best I could, but let me tell you that had it not been for the unfaltering, unchanging and loyal friendship of England and the attitude of her minister at Madrid I might have failed to do the little I did do, because the representatives at Madrid of continental Europe were ready at any time to interfere with the plans of the United States if the British minister would only join them.

"So while Mr. Woodford was fussing and keeping the way open in Madrid the work of preparing for war went on in America, and to show how accurately the time was gauged the run of a 'sealed express' across the American continent may be instanced. No man outside Washington knew its contents, and only two there. The train had right of way over all others. When it reached San Francisco its cargo was transferred to a waiting steamer, which sailed to Honolulu. There the cruiser Baltimore was waiting—everybody wondered why at the time. The cargo of the steamer was transferred to the Baltimore, which carried it to Hongkong.

"On April 23 the cargo was distributed among the American warships (there and Admiral Dewey had the ammunition for which he had been planning). He received orders on April 24 to sail for Manila. That ammunition on May day awoke echoes in Manila bay that were heard round the world and took from Spain an empire of over 100,000 square miles, with close upon 10,000,000 people. History is written in strange ways.

"The story of America's race against time was made known to the world for the first time at a public banquet. Now another page of this strange chapter of history has been written in a Scottish court of law thousands of miles from the scene of action.

"The American papers and public men who derided their government for the tardy throwing down of the challenge to battle have, since the true story was made known, devoutly thanked their stars that long heads and clear knowledge prevailed over popular opinion.

"Had America's secret weakness been known what must she have lost and Spain have gained? America's whole army and navy went down with the Maine in Havana harbor."

"New Ware For Wedding Gifts.

Some held, particularly Miss Eva Parley and Miss Angeline Crosby, recently received examples of a new ware imported for anti-Lenten wedding gifts, says the New York Press. This ware bore the name of "anti-Lenten" and was a combination of old-fashioned and new styles in effect old-fashioned in style.

The shapes of the vases and the design of the brides presented were striking. To sustain the idea of science in white disposed themselves in a contrasting ground. The vases were glazed highly. The main design of the "anti-Lenten" species was a "scientific" flower of the year.

MYSTIC WORKERS OF THE WORLD

The Popular Secretary
Of a Lodge in Greenwood, Ind., Tells
Of His Cure by

Paine's Celery Compound

Earth's Best Spring Medicine.

Spring showers, warm and glowing sunshine and bright skies cannot contribute to the pleasure and enjoyment of the sick and diseased to any extent. Pain, anxiety, gloomy fears and the thought of death all combine at the present time to make the lives of such dark and miserable.

Are you debilitated, nervous, sleepless, dyspeptic, rheumatic or tormented with neuralgia? Have you deadly kidney disease? Is your liver torpid and diseased? If so, Paine's Celery Compound will raise you from the fearful pit of danger. It saved the life of Mr. J. D. Leisure, of Greenwood, Ind., after the utter failures of medical specialists. You, dear sufferer, can command the use of the same Heaven-blessed medicine for your weakness and illness. It will give you what you seek for—health and new happiness. Mr. Leisure, Secretary of Greenwood Lodge No. 438, Mystic Workers of the World, says:

"I used Paine's Celery Compound for general debility, run down nervous system and an aggravated case of indigestion. I had spent over $200 with physicians, some of them specialists, but only obtained temporary relief. I also tried all patent medicines of any note which were recommended for cases such as mine, but with not better results than that obtained from treatment of physicians. The last medicine I tried was Paine's Celery Compound, which gave me relief from the very start. I have taken nearly six bottles, and am happy to say am now enjoying the best of health. I can eat anything, sleep well, feel well, and am gaining in weight every day. To Paine's Celery Compound I owe my present good health."
